Antiwar Clashes Spread

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
From Brooklyn to California, student antiwar demonstrators stepped up their protests today as the heart of the nation's war effort, the Pentagon in Washington, readied itself for the possibility of weekend clashes with the demonstrators.

In Oakland, Calif., helmeted police swept into the street outside an Army induction center with a phalanx of men 10 deep.

The police estimated the number of demonstrators gathered at the Oakland center just after dawn at 10,000 by far the highest number in five straight days of sometimes violent disturbances there. No incidents were reported.

Meanwhile, University of California said that of 252 supposed students arrested during the disturbances, only 11 have been identified as students and 3 others as "possible students."

At Brooklyn College, where a bloody clash between police and antiwar demonstrators led to more than 40 arrests Thursday, hundreds of students picketed
Friday morning and stayed away from classes to protest alleged police brutality.

Student leaders at Brooklyn, where the demonstration was set off by the presence of Navy recruiting officers on the campus, claimed that 2,000 were picketing today. A check of classrooms showed many nearly empty.

At the University of Wisconsin, faculty members Thursday night voted confidence in Chancellor William Sewell's get-tough policy with demonstrators during a bloody melee Wednesday on the Madison campus.

But the faculty overwhelmingly voted to cancel job interviews being held on the campus by the Dow Chemical Co., makers of napalm fire bombs used in Vietnam. The presence of the Dow interviewers set off the Wednesday demonstration.

Defense officials in Washington airlifted troops from as far away as California to counter a threat by antiwar demonstrators to ignore government restrictions and employ "acts of civil disobedience" in laying siege to the Pentagon.

The military policemen debarred Thursday from 15 to 20
Air Force transport planes were the vanguard of what could grow to 5,000 regulars to handle the 70,000 demonstrators sponsors hope to muster for the weekend demonstration.

Leaders of the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam accepted a permit specifying ground rules
Thursday but a spokesman said the group intends "to engage in acts of civil disobedience" which could go beyond the scope of the permit.

A demonstration in support of the war is planned in New York City this weekend by the National Committee for Responsible Patriotism. A two-day vigil will be held in Battery Park and five parades will step off in the greater metropolitan area on Sunday.

Participating groups will include veterans organizations, union, fraternal orders and
"anyone who wants to march or show any spirit for his country," said Charles H. Wiley, executive director of the committee.

Another thrust against the antiwar movement occurred
Thursday in San Marcos, Tex.,
where students at Southwest
Texas State College, President
Johnson's alma mater, burned antiwar literature spread on the campus by demonstrators from the University of Texas at Austin.

PEACEKEEPING- BIGGEST DRAIN ON UN RESOURCES

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The regular budget of the United Nations is financed by an outlay of more than half a billion dollars through 1967. The UN's financial situation is a scale determined and 1967. The UN's financial situation is a scale determined and 1967. The UN's financial situation is a scale determined and 1967.

At least that is the way it nearly $200 million over the years and the big Congo force ran up a whopping tab of $393 million.

Refusal of the Soviet Union, France and others to pay peacekeeping costs for one or both operations lies at the heart of the U.N.'s current deficit.

U.N. diplomats are hopeful that with the drain of these two operations cut off, the organization's deficits can eventually be wiped out by voluntary contributions.

Thant has proposed a 1968 budget for regular U.N. activities of $141.8 million, an increase of $12.4 million over 1967 expenditures. Main reason for the jump was a plan to add 524 persons to the U.N. staff, mainly in the economic and social fields. This would raise the U.N. payroll to 8,102.

The Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions has also submitted to the assembly a recommendation of its own that only 271 new staff members be added, cutting Thant's figure almost in half.

These budget estimates don't include funds for related but specialized agencies such as the U.N. Scientific and Cultural Organization, the Food and Agriculture Organization and the World Health Organization.

The United States, Britain and most West European countries are fully paid up on their U.N. commitments. So are the members of the British Commonwealth, the Scandinavians and a scattering of Asia, African and Latin American countries.

The United States, by far the biggest single donor, pays 30 per cent of the regular budget, or about $33 million a year. Biggest defaulter is the Soviet Union which owes $21,483,000 on UNEF and $39,223,000 on the Congo.

Others more than $1 million in arrears include: China $4,994,000, Czechoslovakia $1,354,000, Poland $1,927,000, Spain $1,024,000, Soviet Ukraine $2,660,000.

Congo: Byelorussia $1,353,000, Nationalist China $6,687,000, Czechoslovakia $2,757,000, France $17,031,000, Poland $2,466,000, South Africa $1,503,000, Soviet Ukraine $5,185,000.

The UAW is seeking at Ford a pattern-setting contract it will take to Chrysler and then GM for matching or bettering.

James David Barton, Gideon, and James L. Francis, Poplar Bluff, were charged by police Thursday with shoplifting. They were arrested on West Center at the A & P Food Store.

They were charged with taking a chuck roast, a carton of cigarettes, a tube of toothpaste and a toothbrush.

In other activity, James Hahs, 804 Poplar, reported to police at 10:49 a.m. today that two large micrometers, used for measuring the width of steel, were lost off his truck somewhere between Fabrik Bros. Equipment and Highway 60. They were valued together at $75, police reported.

A car driven by Jo Ann Johnson, 107 Comstock, backed over a parked bicycle owned by Mike Collier, 111 North Scott Street, at 4:50 p.m. Thursday on north New Madrid Street. No injuries resulted.

Bad News on Front Page Draws Fire of Prosecutor

Newspaper news emphasis was attacked by Scott County Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Tom Gilmore in a speech presented Thursday afternoon to 60 members of the Southeast Missouri Peace Officers' Association at the American Legion in Sikeston.

"Preventive maintenance" was the topic of the young attorney who related that Tuesday night while trying to read the newspaper and think about the speech, he noticed that all he was reading about was rape, robbery, burglary and war.

"To a significant extent -- especially on the front page -- that which makes news is bad news," he said. "Everything is going to the dogs. God is dead, the Supreme court is nuts. The teenagers are a bunch of hoodlums. How often we hear these remarks."

"Countless words are written as to how we should or can attack and destroy these evils."

"But this is a false image of our society, and the suggested line of battle are to a great extent ill-conceived.

"The major factor that sets apart and distinguishes a civilized society is the rule of law -- the concept and reality that men can live and work together and accomplish great and good things if only there are some rules to govern their contact with one another."

"These laws fall into two classes: Natural or basic moral laws based on simple ideas of right and wrong, and the positive pragmatic laws to govern our daily contacts in our complete society as made by legislative bodies."

"I either class of law, it is readily seen that because of man's passions and weaknesses he can not and will not simply obey these laws all the time as a matter of automatic impulse. For this reason, no law is complete unless there are sanctions to be used in connection with it, he said."

"Sanctions as laws fall into two general types: curative, to rehabilitate the law after there has been a violation by punishing and reforming the offender, and deterring others from a similar violation, and preservative sanctions, to induce law observance, by rewarding good conduct."

"The preservative sanction is the first and foremost, but it is also the most difficult."

"When we think of law enforcement we think of crimes, catching the criminals and meting out punishment. We think of bad conduct."

"How do you reward a woman who drives within the speed limit? How do you reward a young man for not taking advantage of a young lady he was with last night even though his passion was much aroused by her loveliness?"

"These are the people who didn't make the front page last night. Will they make it tonight?"

"Preventive maintenance -- let's devote more of our time and energy to helping these people stay off the front page. These folks constitute a good 95 per cent of our society.

"Let's get rid of the tunnel vision that reveals only the difficult problems where the law has been violated and good conduct has been lost. Let's start one in need of advice away empty-handed, he urged."

"This idea of respect is a key ingredient to supporting good conduct. Not only respect for the people we meet in our work, but respect also for the people with whom we work. Back biting, buck passing and story telling must be avoided."

"The peace officers' conduct can serve as a good or bad example to persons who might be swayed by seeing an unhealthy image. 'Arrogance, conceit and threats -- human frailties hard to suppress 100 per cent of the time when we carry the responsibility and authority of a law officer -- these must be held back."

"This is particularly true when we are dealing with the teenager some of whose out of his immaturity and page -- for he won't have so many lack of developed good judgment has approached the borderline of an infraction and taunts you with his childish comment.

"Indifference toward persons with family problems also must be overcome. Don't turn someone in need of advice away empty-handed, he urged."

"If we do this, perhaps Charlie Blanton (Daily Standard publisher) will have to start printing some of his jokes on the front page -- for he won't have so many lack of developed good judgment has approached the border-

Bootheel Judge's Policy Challenged

IOLA, Kan. (AP) — A Kansas judge disagrees sharply with a Missouri jurist who conducts juvenile crime trials in open court.

Judge William H. Billings of Kennett, Mo., conducts public trials of juveniles in contrast to the closed hearings held by most judges in both Missouri and Kansas.

Billings was quoted in a recent Associated Press story as saying his method discourages other youngsters from breaking laws and has drawn few protests, even from parents of children on trial.

But Judge Leslie L. Norton of Allen County Court here said he couldn't disagree more with Judge Billings' approach. Norton, vice president of the Kansas Probate Judges Association, added he believes his opinion is shared by all juvenile judges in Kansas.

"We -- and I speak for all the juvenile judges in the state -- feel that our job is dealing with juvenile offenders is one of correction, not punishment," said Judge Norton.

"When a youthful offender is placed in the public eye as a criminal, as Judge Billings is apparently attempting to do, the result is often the opposite of

Typhoon Continues to Cut Air Strikes on Viet North

SAIGON (AP) — Typhoon casualties, headquarters said, another Communist artillery

Carla ran out of steam today and South Vietnamese casualties were light.

The U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division's 3rd Brigade reported killing another 25 Communist troops while suffering no casualties in a series of small skirmishes in the coastal lowlands 370 miles northeast of Saigon.

High-flying B52 bombers continued their harassment of the 35,000 to 40,000 Communist troops reported by U.S. intelligence to be operating in and around the demilitarized zone.

The eight-engine Stratofortress struck twice in the DMZ Friday morning, unloading 300,000 pounds of bombs on suspected staging and bivouac areas and mine positions two and four miles northeast of the U.S. Marine outpost at Con Thien.

U.S. Navy cruisers and destroyers also hammered away at the big guns at Con Thien, U.S. headquarters announced that four MIG jets previously listed as probably shot down by the Hon Me island radar American pilots have been reclassified as confirmed kills.

But although the previous total had been 86 MIGs downed, the headquarters said this was incorrect and the revised total is only 80.

A spokesman said three of the MIGs were downed last April and one in August. He said they have now been classified as kills after extensive study of pilot reports, aerial film and other evidence.

U.S. forces have reported the loss of 26 American planes to MIGs.

Water Tower Cleaning Bids Are Opened

Bids for the cleaning, painting and repair of the 300,000 gallon elevated steel water tower at Prairie and Center were opened Thursday night at the city administration building by City manager W. Raymond Miller.

The apparent low bidder was J. B. Erection Co. of St. Louis with a price of $9,000.

Two other bids were received. Frust-Cote Inc., Pasadena, Tex., bid $9,300 and Industrial Tank Co., Memphis, bid $9,140. E. R. nman, director of the city light and water office said.

On the advice of the city's consulting engineers William G. Riddle & Associates of Kansas City, the bids will be taken under advisement and the contract will be awarded later, Inman said.

The contract probably will be awarded within a week, and the work is expected to begin by Nov. 1, Inman continued. Contract completion is expected to take 30 days.

The cost will be paid from the general fund of the city water company.

The United Nations' financial plight has eased since it plugged up its two big peacekeeping operations, but the crisis is far from solved.

Noting recently that the world organization is still more than $60 million in the red, Secretary-General U Thant warned that "prospects continue to give little cause for optimism."

A group of 14 experts who studied the financial situation said the main problem still was the failure of more than half of the organization's members to keep up with all their required payments.

Agreement Near On Auto Strike

DETROIT (AP)—What could be one of the richest labor contracts ever in a manufacturing industry appeared all but locked up today as negotiators for Ford Motor Co. and the striking United Auto Workers remained closed in marathon bargaining for nearly 24 hours.

Asked if he meant an announcement of settlement, the source said "Yes."

He did not elaborate on the contract.

Whatever agreement is reached was expected, however, to be tentative until ratifying meetings are held—probably Sunday—and even then a complete end to the industry's fourth longest strike—may not be in sight.

Most recent settlements in the industry have been followed by local walkouts where bargain-ers have been unable to reach at-the-plant agreements. Sources said today that the majority of these local agreements have not been reached.

The 12-story Ford headquarters in suburban Dearborn, scene of the talks, was a bustle of activity in the predawn hours and it was learned that a free lance broadcaster had been roused out to record advertisements for Lincoln.

Mercury saying the strike was over and the 1968 models would be plentiful.

None of the commercials had been aired.

Wednesday the union sent telegrams to the presidents of Ford locals telling them that no meaningful progress had been made on most key money issues, but that there had been some in other areas.

The strike, which started Sept. 7 and has idled 160,000 workers at Ford plants in 25 states, entered its 44th day today, becoming, along with a 1937 walkout, the fourth longest in industry history.

The Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions has also submitted to the assembly a recommendation of its own that only 271 new staff members be added, cutting Thant's figure almost in half.

These budget estimates don't include funds for related but specialized agencies such as the U. N. Scientific and Cultural Organization, the Food and Agriculture Organization and the World Health Organization.

The United States, Britain and most West European countries are fully paid up on their U.N. commitments. So are the members of the British Commonwealth, the Scandinavians and a scattering of Asia, African and Latin American countries.

The United States, by far the biggest single donor, pays 30 per cent of the regular budget, or about $33 million a year.

Biggest defaulter is the Soviet Union which owes $21,483,000 on UNEF and $39,223,000 on the Congo.

Others more than $1 million in arrears include: -UNEF: Nationalist China $4,894,000, Czechoslovakia $1,354,000 Poland $1,927,000, Spain $1,024,000, Soviet Ukraine $2,660,000.

-Congo: Byelorussia $1,353,000, Nationalist China $6,687,000, Czechoslovakia $2,757,000, France $17,031,000, Poland $2,466,000, South Africa $1,503,000, Soviet Ukraine $5,185,000.

The original drive began in November of 1965. The goal includes federal funds.

Construction on the hospital is 60 per cent completed. April 1 is the date set for completion.

The 60-bed hospital will employ 75 persons as maintenance workers, cooks, nurses, aides and a supervisor of nurses, according to Administrator Harry Christman.

C. C. Shell and Bob Robins are co-chairmen for the final fund drive.

Newspaper news emphasis was attacked by Scott county Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Tom Gilmore in a speech presented Thursday afternoon to 60 members of the Southeast Missouri Peace Officers' Association at the American Legion in Sikeston.

"Preventive maintenance" was the topic of the young attorney who related that Tuesday night while trying to read the newspaper and think about the speech, he noticed that all he was reading about was rape, robbery, burglary and war.

"To a significant extent -- especially on the front page -- that which makes news is bad news," he said. "Everything is going to the dogs, God is dead, the Supreme court is nuts. The teenagers are a bunch of hoodlums. How often we hear these remarks."

"Countless words are written as to how we should or can attack and destroy these evils. 'But this is a false image of our society, and the suggested line of battle are to a great extent ill-conceived.

"The major factor that sets apart and distinguishes a civilized society is the rule of law--the concept and reality that men can live and work together and accomplish great and good things if only there are some rules to govern their contact with one another."

"These laws fall into two classes: Natural or basic moral laws based on simple ideas of right and wrong, and the positive pragmatic laws to govern our daily contacts in our complete society as made by legislative bodies."

"I either class of law, it is readily seen that because of man's passions and weaknesses these laws all the time as a matter of automatic impulse. For this reason, no law is complete unless there are sanctions to be used in connection with it, he said.

"Sanctions as laws fall into two general types: curative, to rehabilitate the law after there has been a violation by punishing and reforming the offender, and deterring others from a similar violation, and preservative sanctions, to induce law observance, by rewarding good conduct.

"The preservative sanction is the first and foremost, but it is also the most difficult.

"When we think of law enforcement we think of crimes, catching the criminals and meting out punishment. We think of bad conduct."

"How do you reward a woman who drives within the speed limit? How do you reward a young man for not taking advantage of a young lady he was with last night even though his passion was much aroused by her loveliness?"

"These are the people who didn't make the front page last night. Let's devote more of our time and effort to helping these people stay off the front page. These folks constitute a good 95 per cent of our society.

"Let's get rid of the tunnel vision that reveals only the difficult problems where the law has been violated and good conduct has been lost. Let's start rewarding, encouraging and guiding the law abiders," he continued.

"How can we do this?" "First, we can re-establish those basic natural laws -- those ten commandments of good conduct -- in our own lives," he suggested.

"The peace officers' conduct can serve as a good or bad example to persons who might be swayed by seeing an unhealthy image."

"Arrogance, conceit and threats -- human frailties hard to suppress -- 100 per cent of the time when we carry the responsibility and authority of a law officer -- these must be held back.

"This is particularly true when or who are dealing with the teenager who out of his immaturity and page -- for he won't have so many lack of developed good judgment has approached the borderline of an infraction and taunts

you with his childish comment. "Indifference toward persons with family problems also must be overcome. Don't turn someone in need of advice away empty handed, he urged.

"This idea of respect is a key ingredient to supporting good conduct. Not only respect for the people we meet in our work, but respect also for the people with whom we work. Back biting, back passing and story telling must be avoided.

"Gentlemen, look over this idea of preventive maintenance, let's use the ten commandments as our daily equipment check list, walk the extra mile to end encouragement, reward and guide the law abider.

"If we do this, perhaps Charlie Blanton (Daily Standard publisher) will have to start printing we are dealing with the teenager who out of his immaturity and page -- for he won't have so many lack of developed good judgment has approached the border-

Bootheel Judge's Policy Challenged

judge disagrees sharply with a Missouri jurist who conducts juvenile crime trials in open court.

Judge William H. Billings of Kennett, Mo., conducts public trials of juveniles in contrast to the closed hearings held by most judges in both Missouri and Kansas.

Billings was quoted in a recent Associated Press story as saying his method discourages other youngsters from breaking laws and has drawn few protests, even from parents of children on trial.

But Judge Leslie L. Norton of Allen County Court here said he couldn't disagree more with Judge Billings' approach. Norton, vice president of the Kansas Probate Judges Association, added he believes his opinion is shared by all juvenile judges in Kansas.

"We—and I speak for all the juvenile judges in the state—feel that our job is dealing with juvenile offenders is one of correction, not punishment," said Judge Norton.

"When a youthful offender is placed in the public eye as a criminal, as Judge Billings is apparently attempting to do, the result is often the opposite of

Typhoon Continues to Cut Air Strikes on Viet North

SAIGON (AP) — Typhoon

Carla ran out of steam today but its backlash of winds and rain apparently curtailed the U.S. air war against North Vietnam for the second day in a row.

Carla's center winds over the Gulf of Tonkin dwindled to a piffling 29 miles an hour, but the storm washed out all strikes Thursday by U.S. Navy planes from the three carriers in the gulf.

All air strikes Thursday were flown by Air Force and Marine fighter-bombers from Thailand or South Vietnam. They managed 77 attack missions, including an attack on a railroad bridge 70 miles northwest of Hanoi and infiltration routes and transport facilities in the southern half of North Vietnam.

Reports on Friday's operations over the north will not be available until Saturday, but military spokesmen indicated the storm still was cutting into naval air operations.

In the ground war in South Vietnam, the U.S. Command reported that South Vietnamese civilian irregulars led by U.S. Special Forces troops killed 64 Communists two days ago in three scattered actions.

There were no American casualties, headquarters said.

South Vietnamese casualties were light.

The U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division's 3rd Brigade reported killing another 25 Communist troops while suffering no casualties in a series of small skirmishes in the coastal lowlands 370 miles northeast of Saigon.

High-flying B52 bombers continued their harassment of the 35,000 to 40,000 Communist troops reported by U.S. intelligence to be operating in and around the demilitarized zone.

The eight-engine Stratofortress struck twice in the DMZ Friday morning, unloading 300,000 pounds of bombs on suspected staging and bivouac areas and gun positions two and four miles northeast of the U.S. Marine outpost at Con Thien.

U.S. Navy cruisers and destroyers also hammered away with their big guns at Communist installations in the southern part of North Vietnam.

The Navy said one cruiser shelled the Hon Me island radar warning site 32 miles southeast of Thanh Hoa and set off a secondary explosion.

Other 7th Fleet destroyers and Air Force and Marine fighter-bombers joined in the American campaign to prevent another Communist artillery siege of Con Thien like the one last month. Marine outposts along the frontier reported receiving only 22 rounds of mortar and artillery fire Thursday with only two Marines wounded.

Air Force pilots reported destroying or damaging 17 military structures and touching off nine fires in two raids just north of the DMZ. Marine pilots raked artillery positions just north of the zone and reported one secondary explosion.

A military spokesman said there was a possibility of a break in the weather by Sunday, but forecasters predicted another typhoon may hit the Tonkin Gulf area by next Thursday. Carla gave a taste of the northeast monsoon rains now about to envelop North Vietnam for six months. They will force U.S. northern operations.

U.S. headquarters announced that four MIG jets previously listed as probably shot down by American pilots have been reclassified as confirmed kills. But although the previous total had been 86 MIGs downed, the headquarters said this was incorrect and the revised total is only 89.

A spokesman said three of the MIG probables were downed last April and one in August. He said they have now been classified as kills after extensive study of pilot reports, aerial film and other evidence.

U.S. forces have reported the loss of 26 American planes to MIGs.

Twenty three licensed practical nurse candidates received their caps, signifying completion of half of one year of training in ceremonies Thursday night at the First Christian Church.

Dr. Jesse Page spoke on the expanding role of the licensed practical nurse.

Bill Sikes, co-ordinator of federal programs with the public schools, gave the welcome address. The church was filled with candidates' friends and relatives.

The Rev. Durward Penny, pastor of the First Christian church, gave the invocation. The Rev. Joseph Wagner, pastor of the First Methodist church, gave the benediction.

Mrs. Clare Eisenbach, R.N., co-ordinator, presented the candidates with candles. Capping was done by Mrs. Madge Meacham, R.N., Kennett instructor.

Water Tower Cleaning Bids Are Opened

Bids for the cleaning, painting and repair of the 300,000 gallon elevated steel water tower at Prairie and Center were opened Thursday night at the city administration building by City manager W. Raymont Miller.

The apparent low bidder was J. B. Erection Co. of St. Louis with a price of $9,000.

Two other bids were received. Trust-Cote Inc., Pasadena, Tex., bid $9,300 and Industrial Tank Co., Memphis, bid $9,140. E. R. Inman, director of the city light and water office said.

On the advice of the city's consulting engineers William G. Riddle & Associates of Kansas City, the bids will be taken under advisement and the contract will be awarded later, Inman said.

The contract probably will be awarded within a week, and the work is expected to begin by Nov. 1, Inman continued. Contract completion is expected to take 30 days.

The cost will be paid from the general fund of the city water company.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Because the commercials riddle news and many other programs on television, scant attention may be paid to a few departures.

So many transfers are made on news programs that only the most discerning viewer, possessing maximum powers of concentration, can tell where the news leaves off and the commercials begin.

A series of commercials with news type format make the whole offering particularly confusing.

But the electronic air waves aren't all loused up. Tuesday night the Columbia Broadcasting Company ran a 90-minute play on prime time without interruption. The commercials were compacted at the start and the end.

American Telephone and Telegraph last season gave up commercial interruptions in its television programs. It has continued the commendable policy.

This is a departure from a trend toward more rather than fewer advertising breaks.

AT&T should not be given too much credit. Utopia is only as far away as the nearest telephone.

Just as the viewer sits down to watch Duke Ellington emote and play without interruption, the darn telephone rings.

Look for the good traits of your fellow man and not his faults.

Congressman Wendell Wyatt (R-Ore.) introduced legislation establishing a Small Tax Court to assure the average taxpayer of fairness in any dealings with the Internal Revenue Service. "Our court system should serve as arbiter in disputes between the Internal Revenue Service and any taxpayer," said Wyatt. "It is not always fair that the executive agency serving as collector of taxes also serves as final judge as to what taxes are actually due."

Congress does not have to appropriate money for the Federal Highway program.

This money comes from our gasoline and motor oil taxes.

L.B.J. is waiting to refuse to release any of the money unless congress passes his income tax surcharge bill. Many will remember Dear Old Lyndon next year for his squeeze play.

We said it once, will say it again. We hope congress and the Governors tell him to go to hell.

In winning the National League pennant race the St. Louis did it with such ease that Missourians became somewhat bored. So did the Cards.

They put together some stirring victories but the competitive spirit that sparkles a tight pennant race was lacking.

Then came the Series, which the Cards were supposed to win in a breeze.

It looked that way at the outset but the Boston Red Sox, a determined Cinderella club from the American League, put everything they had in the tussle.

It was enough to revive the faith of everyone in the national pastime -- even Missourians, even the Cards.

After blowing the sixth game in a Boston stampede that made the Cards look anemic, the Cards came back to win the seventh and final contest in a way that delighted the hearts of the fans.

There was that big cat, Bob Gibson, pitching three-hit baseball to win his third straight Series game and helping to win his own game with a powerful home run blow off weary Sox pitcher Jim Lonborg. There was that Series' standout Lou Brock, the human streak, hitting and stealing bases easier than most Americans can take a step. Lou ran his Series stolen bases up to seven, adding a touch of nostalgia to the proceedings at Fenway park.

It was in the 1931 Series that another Cardinal, Pepper Martin, stole five bases for the 1931 Gashouse Gang against the old Philadelphia Athletics.

There was the towering home run hit by Julian Javier scoring three in the sixth as victory insurance.

Events proved that the Cards didn't need it because they went into the sixth with four runs and the Red Sox could only score two in the 7-2 contest.

But Javier's fielding was sensational.

There was the consistently fine clutch hitting of Roger Maris.

As usual the Series produced outstanding catches that set it apart from regular season play.

It was a great series in which Boston really tested the Cardinals' mettle with a happy result for their partisans both in and out of Missouri.

QUALITY AND RELIABILITY

MERCHANTS HAVE been told that advertising is the one tool which enables small business to compete with the big ones. Emphasize quality and reliability. These ingredients can help build business on a better basis than cutting a few cents off the price.

For more than 40 years the National Association of Manufacturers has been encouraging manufacturers to make the best possible use of the experiment, knowledge, and skill they possess. Excellent progress has been made by the voluntary route, and many firms have dropped bans on hiring older people. The NAM said it would seem neither wise nor necessary to pass a federal law on this subject at a time when the states are taking affirmative action to resolve the problem at the state level.

Safety experts report that driving at night is more than twice as dangerous as driving during the day, says "Today's Health", the magazine of the American Medical Association. In 1965, there were 10 persons killed for every 100 million vehicle miles traveled in darkness -- four dead for every 100 million miles traveled in daylight.

Illinois state police say reflective delineators outlining turns and highway curves in the state have reduced accidents at high-accident locations.

UN'S COLORS SHOWN BY DUES BACKDOWN

For two decades, advocates of the United Nations have cited its self-appointed peace-keeping function as justification for its existence. Even when the UN has failed to fulfill its alleged purposes of benefitting mankind, or when it has succeeded in taking ill-conceived actions that diminish Freedom in the world, its apologists fall back on the claim that the UN is the "only hope for world peace."

Even if this lofty end did justify such a means as the UN, there would be little encouragement to be found in the UN's position as peace-keeper of the globe today. For the simple fact is the United Nations is bankrupt. The world body blew its bankroll convincing the people of Katanga that self-determination must have UN approval. Moise Tshombe, whom the UN would not tolerate as leader of Katanga, was later selected to lead the central Congolese government through a crucial period. He did so with prudence and distinction, and stepped down quietly when the regime chose to replace him. In Tshombe's tenure as premier, there was no evidence of the ambitious strongman for whose destruction the UN emptied its treasury.

Nearly two-thirds of all the money the UN has spent for "peacekeeping" in its 20 years of existence went for its Congo operations. To offset this drain of funds, the world body levied additional "peacekeeping" assessments on its member nations. The Soviet Union and eight satellites, France and South Africa refused to pay their peacekeeping assessments.

A national magazine recently reported that these unpaid special assessments now almost equal the UN debt. The UN is running $101 million in debt, to which $96 million of unpaid peacekeeping assessments now add a further deficit.

According to State Department figures, the amounts owed on August 16 by some of the nations who have refused to pay their peacekeeping assessments are: the USSR (including Byelorussia and the Ukraine, which have additional separate votes) - $66,876,542; Poland - $4,082,873; Czechoslovakia - $3,876,485; Hungary - $1,541,295; South Africa - $1,503,337; Rumania - $1,103,209; Cuba - $482,733; Albania - $83,432; and Yemen - $83,432.

On August 16, the United States dropped its demand that these members be required to pay their overdue bills or lose their votes in the UN. They have defied the rule of the majority and still wield their power within the world organization. Having done this successfully, they have no reason to pay in the future. And the world's vaunted peacekeeper may well be without funds from now on.

FUTURE FOOD: TORULA YEASTS. Nutrition experts in the Catholic Digest see yeasts as a major food of the future, a survival ration in years ahead. The most suitable yeasts belong to the strain "torula." This species does not perform fermentation; it simply reproduces at incredible speed, making protein faster than any plant or animal on earth. Not only can yeasts compete favorably with crop plants for space, they can also compete on equally favorable terms with animals for feed. A pig yields six pounds of pork for every 100 pounds of feed; a chicken yields 1.5 pounds of chicken meat; a steer, 1.2 pounds of dried beef; a cow, two pounds of dry milk solids. Torula yeast, in contrast, produces 65 pounds of edible dry yeast for every 100 pounds of feed.

And the torula yeast can be nourished on anything that contains starch or sugar, regardless of how inedible it seems to us. A yeast factory producing 1,000 tons of protein a year could be set up on a quarter of an acre of land. More than 40 million tons of protein a year could be turned out on only 10,000 acres.

Wisconsin paper mills are now using their left-overs to produce about 8,000 tons of torula a year. The yeast is added to barbecue sauces, TV dinners, potato chips, vegetables, stews, gravies, cheese spreads, and pet foods.

The UN's Food and Agriculture Organization says that only three acres of land per person could ever be used, because the rest is too dry, mountainous, or frozen. A good part of this otherwise useless land will probably be used for food yeast in the future.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

BARNETT COMES FORWARD As early as Dec. 21, 1964, Drew Pearson reported that "the most carefully guarded civilian in the United States today is Horace Barnett."

Who gave the FBI a signed confession that he participated in the murder of three civil rights workers in Philadelphia, Miss. Barnett is under day-and-night FBI guard.

Last week Barnett turned up in Mississippi as the key witness for the government against the Mississippians accused of murder.

WASHINGTON -- The oil barons have broken out in a sweat under their fancy silk shirts and tailored suits over the extra miles per gallon that most 1968 cars offer.

In conformity with the anti-pollution regulars, the 1968 models have been equipped with most efficient engines. These not only reduce exhaust emission but also require less gasoline.

This means, of course, that new car buyers should get more miles to the gallon and blow out less stifling exhaust fumes into the faces of the drivers behind them. But the oil boys are alarmed because it also means they will sell less gasoline.

Result: They are now pressuring their friends in Washington to ease up on the drive against air pollution.

By the 1970s, under the present program, the anti-pollution standards will require auto manufacturers to cut exhaust emissions still more drastically. Detroit engineers plan to meet these standards by continued engine modifications.

To the dismay of the oilmen, this will bring even greater engine efficiency and more fuel economy.

An estimated 90 per cent of the 1968 engines offer greater horsepower plus added over-all efficiency. This has been accomplished, in most instances, by improving the distributor and heating the intake air. The heated air allows the engine to operate on a leaner fuel mixture, and the new distributor provides better fuel ignition.

The oilmen are also haggling with the auto manufacturers, particularly Ford, over reducing the oil-change requirements.

Ford is recommending to its 1968 customers that they need change the oil no more often than every six months or 6,000 miles.

The longer interval would be safer, of course, if better motor oils were used. The oilmen, preferring more frequent oil changes to increase sales, refused to improve the quality.

Ford, in turn, threatened to include a list of approved oils in the glove compartments of its 1968 models.

Ford held off the move when the oil boys, showing the first signs of repentance, agreed to reconsider. It remains to be seen, however, whether the oil industry will change its attitude of putting profits ahead of the public good.

Not that there isn't the slightest indication, of course, that the oil crowd will accept any reduction in their tax privileges to help pay for the Vietnam war. They keep the taxpayers' money circulating in dizzy circles by draining it from the U.S. treasury through tax loopholes, then pouring it back into the pockets of the politicians to make the loopholes in the tax laws still bigger.

Most oil millionaires prefer to make cheap speeches against the communist menace and let the less-dressed taxpayers put up the money to fight communism.

SPENDTHRIFT BUDGET PRUNERS The congressmen who clamor the loudest for budget cuts apparently haven't heard that economy begins at home.

Republican floor leader Ger-ald Ford, for example, keeps agitating for reductions in federal spending. Yet he makes impassioned speeches every year on the need for federal school aid in the depressed areas of his native Michigan.

Rep. Mel Laird, R-Wis., another economy crier, definitely does not want to economize on the food and drug laboratory he has persuaded the government to build in Madison, Wis.

In fact, he pulled congressional strings to get the government to transfer the laboratory from Beltsville, Md., to his home state -- though Beltsville is closer to headquarters and would require less money for travel.

Although everyone on Capitol Hill is, of course, for God, country and economy, the average congressman favors economies in someone else's district.

Taking note of this, house appropriations Chairman George Mahon remarked dryly at a close senate-house conference on 21 different projects in this bill over and above those recommended by the budget bureau.

If we are going to cut, let's start cutting there. We can't economize by padding the President's budget."

Mahon also warned his committee colleagues that the ways and means committee, headed by Wilbur Mills, by holding up a tax increase until federal spending is cut, was encroaching on their territory.

GOP REVERSAL "Wilbur and I have been discussing this matter almost every day," added Mahon. "I'm convinced that he doesn't really want to intrude on our powers, but the pressure is on us. We are in danger of losing our authority over federal spending unless we knuckle down and do the job we're supposed to do."

The Republican coordinating committee, the party's top policy-making body, charged last week that President Johnson's clean-air program lodges too much authority in the federal government. The committee demanded that air pollution be handled more by the states. Yet it was the Republican members of the house-commerce committee who insisted upon federal controls and refused to let California set its own, tougher standards.

The Republicans, with help from a few Democrats, knocked a provision out of the anti-pollution bill that would have permitted California to set more stringent standards. The Republicans deserted their traditional states-right stance, of course, because of pressure from the automobile industry.

The auto manufacturers want the federal government to set and enforce the standards for all states. Otherwise, they will have to install special devices for cars sold in California.

In other words, the Republicans put the big auto makers ahead of their own party principles.

No vending machine made today really gives satisfaction. None will, until they make one that groans when you kick it.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Because the commercials riddle news and many other programs on television, scant attention may be paid to a few departures.

So many transfers are made on news programs that only the most discerning viewer, possessing maximum powers of concentration, can tell where the news leaves off and the commercials begin.

A series of commercials with news type format make the whole offering particularly confusing.

But the electronic air waves aren't all loused up. Tuesday night the Columbia Broadcasting Company ran a 90-minute play on prime time without interruption. The commercials were compacted at the start and the end.

American Telephone and Telegraph last season gave up commercial interruptions in its television programs. It has continued the commendable policy.

This is a departure from a trend toward more rather than fewer advertising breaks.

AT&T should not be given too much credit. UTPI is only as far away as the nearest telephone.

Just as the viewer sits down to watch Duke Ellington emote and play without interruption, the darn telephone rings.

Congressman Wendell Wyatt (R-Ore.) introduced legislation establishing a Small Tax Court to assure the average taxpayer of fairness in any dealings with the Internal Revenue Service. "Our court system should serve as arbiter in disputes between the Internal Revenue Service and any taxpayer," said Wyatt. Congress does not have to appropriate money for the Federal Highway program.

We said it once, will say it again. We hope congress and the Governors tell him to go to hell.

In winning the National League pennant race the St. Louis did it with such ease that Missourians became somewhat bored. So did the Cards. They put together some stirring victories but the competitive spirit that sparkles a tight pennant race was lacking.

Then came the Series, which the Cards were supposed to win in a breeze.

It looked that way at the outset but the Boston Red Sox, a determined Cinderella club from the American League, put everything they had in the tussle.

It was enough to revive the faith of everyone in the national pastime -- even Missourians, even the Cards.

After blowing the sixth game in a Boston stampede that made the Cards look anemic, the Cards came back to win the seventh and final contest in a way that delighted the hearts of the fans.

There was that big cat, Bob Gibson, pitching three-hit baseball to win his third straight Series game and helping to win his own game with a powerful home run blow off weary Sox pitcher Jim Lonborg. There was that Series' standout Lou Brock, the human streak, hitting and stealing bases easier than most Americans can take a step. Lou ran his Series stolen bases up to seven, adding a touch of nostalgia to the proceedings at Fenway park.

It was in the 1931 Series that another Cardinal, Pepper Martin, stole five bases for the 1931 Gashouse Gang against the old Philadelphia Athletics.

There was the towering home run hit by Julian Javier scoring three in the sixth as victory insurance.

Events proved that the Cards didn't need it because they went into the sixth with four runs and the Red Sox could only score two in the 7-2 contest.

But Javier's fielding was sensational.

There was the consistently fine clutch hitting of Roger Maris.

As usual the Series produced outstanding catches that set it apart from regular season play.

It was a great series in which Boston really tested the Cardinals' mettle with a happy result for their partisans both in and out of Missouri.

QUALITY AND RELIABILITY

MERCHANTS HAVE been told that advertising is the one tool which enables small business to compete with the big ones. Emphasize quality and reliability. These ingredients can help build business on a better basis than cutting a few cents off the price.

Safety experts report that driving at night is more than twice as dangerous as driving during the day, says "Today's Health", the magazine of the American Medical Association. In 1965, there were 10 persons killed for every 100 million vehicle miles traveled in darkness -- four dead for every 100 million miles traveled in daylight.

Illinois state police say reflective delineators outlining turns and highway curves in the state have reduced accidents at high-accident locations.

UN'S COLORS SHOWN BY DUES BACKDOWN

For two decades, advocates of the United Nations have cited its self-appointed peace-keeping function as justification for its existence. Even when the UN has failed to fulfill its alleged purposes of benefitting mankind, or when it has succeeded in taking ill-conceived actions that diminish Freedom in the world, its apologists fall back on the claim that the UN is the "only hope for world peace."

Even if this lofty end did justify such a means as the UN, there would be little encouragement to be found in the UN's position as peace-keeper of the globe today. For the simple fact is the United Nations is bankrupt. The world body blew its bankroll convincing the people of Katanga that self-determination must have UN approval. Moise Tshombe, whom the UN would not tolerate as leader of Katanga, was later selected to lead the central Congolese government through a crucial period. He did so with prudence and distinction, and stepped down quietly when the regime chose to replace him. In Tshombe's tenure as premier, there was no evidence of the ambitious strongman for whose destruction the UN emptied its treasury.

Nearly two-thirds of all the money the UN has spent for "peacekeeping" in its 20 years of existence went for its Congo operations. To offset this drain of funds, the world body levied additional "peacekeeping" assessments on its member nations. The Soviet Union and eight satellites, France and South Africa refused to pay their peacekeeping assessments.

A natinal magazine recently reported that these unpaid special assessments now almost equal the UN debt. The UN is running $101 million in debt, to which $96 million of unpaid peacekeeping assessments now add a further deficit.

According to State Department figures, the amounts owed on August 16 by some of the nations who have refused to pay their peacekeeping assessments are: the USSR (including Byelorussia and the Ukraine, which have additional separate votes) - $66,876,542; Poland - $4,082,873; Czechoslovakia - $3,876,485; Hungary - $1,541,295; South Africa - $1,503,337; Rumania - $1,103,209; Cuba - $482,733; Albania - $83,432; and Yemen - $83,432.

On August 16, the United States dropped its demand that these members be required to pay their overdue bills or lose their votes in the UN. They have defied the rule of the majority and still wield their power within the world organization. Having done this successfully, they have no reason to pay in the future. And the world's vaunted peacekeeper may well be without funds from now on.

FUTURE FOOD:

TORULA YEASTS Nutrition experts in the Catholic Digest see yeasts as a major food of the future, a survival ration in years ahead. The most suitable yeasts belong to the strain "torula." This species does not perform fermentation; it simply reproduces at incredible speed, making protein faster than any plant or animal on earth.

Not only can yeasts compete favorably with crop plants for space, they can also compete on equally favorable terms with animals for feed. A pig yields six pounds of pork for every 1,000 pounds of feed; a chicken yields 1.5 pounds of chicken meat; a steer, 1.2 pounds of dried beef; a cow, two pounds of dry milk solids. Torula yeast, in contrast, produces 65 pounds of edible dry yeast for every 100 pounds of feed.

And the torula yeast can be nourished on anything that contains starch or sugar, regardless of how inedible it seems to us. A yeast factory producing 1,000 tons of protein a year could be set up on a quarter of an acre of land. More than 40 million tons of protein a year could be turned out on only 10,000 acres.

Wisconsin paper mills are now using their left-overs to produce about 8,000 tons of torula a year. The yeast is added to barbecue sauces, TV dinners, potato chips, vegetables, stews, gravies, cheese spreads, and pet foods. The UN's Food and Agriculture Organization says that only three acres of land per person could ever be used, because the rest is too dry, mountainous, or frozen. A good part of this otherwise useless land will probably be used for food yeast in the future.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

BARNETT COMES FORWARD

As early as Dec. 21, 1964, Drew Pearson reported that "the most carefully guarded civilian in the United States today is Horace Barnett."

Who gave the FBI a signed confession that he participated in the murder of three civil rights workers in Philadelphia, Miss. . . Barnett is under day-and-night FBI guard.

Last week Barnett turned up in Mississippi as the key witness for the government against the Mississippians accused of murder.

WASHINGTON -- The oil barons have broken out in a sweat under their fancy silk shirts and tailored suits over the extra miles per gallon that most 1968 cars offer.

In conformity with the anti-pollution regulars, the 1968 models have been equipped with most efficient engines. These not only reduce exhaust emission but also require less gasoline.

This means, of course, that new car buyers should get more miles to the gallon and blow out less stifling exhaust fumes into the faces of the drivers behind them. But the oil boys are alarmed because it also means they will sell less gasoline.

Result: They are now pressuring their friends in Washington to ease up on the drive against air pollution.

By the 1970s, under the present program, the anti-pollution standards will require auto manufacturers to cut exhaust emissions still more drastically. Detroit engineers plan to meet these standards by continued engine modifications. To the dismay of the oilmen, this will bring even greater engine efficiency and more fuel economy.

An estimated 90 per cent of the 1968 engines offer greater horsepower plus added overall efficiency. This has been accomplished, in most instances, by improving the distributor and heating the intake air. The heated air allows the engine to operate on a leaner fuel mixture, and the new distributor provides better fuel ignition.

The oilmen are also haggling with the auto manufacturers, particularly Ford, over reducing the oil-change requirements.

Ford is recommending to its 1968 customers that they need change the oil no more often than every six months or 6,000 miles.

The longer interval would be safer, of course, if better motor oils were used. The oilmen, preferring more frequent oil changes to increase sales, refused to improve the quality.

Ford, in turn, threatened to include a list of approved oils in the glove compartments of its 1968 models.

Ford held off the move when the oil boys, showing the first signs of repentance, agreed to reconsider. It remains to be seen, however, whether the oil industry will change its attitude of putting profits ahead of the public good.

Note: There isn't the slightest indication, of course, that the oil crowd will accept any reduction in their tax privileges to help pay for the Vietnam war. They keep the taxpayers' money circulating in dizzy circles by draining it from the U.S. treasury through tax loopholes, then pouring it back into the pockets of the politicians to make the loopholes in the tax laws still bigger.

SPENDTHRIFT

BUDGET PRUNERS

The congressmen who clamor: the loudest for budget cuts apparently haven't heard that economy begins at home.

Republican floor leader Gerald Ford, for example, keeps agitating for reductions in federal spending. Yet he makes impassioned speeches every year on the need for federal school aid in the depressed areas of his native Michigan.

Rep. Mel Laird, R-Wis., another economy crier, definitely does not want to economize on the food and drug laboratory he has persuaded the government to build in Madison, Wis. In fact, he pulled congressional strings to get the government to transfer the laboratory from Beltsville, Md., to his home state - though Beltsville is closer to headquarters and would require less money for travel.

Although everyone on Capitol

Hill is, of course, for God, country and economy, the average congressman favors economies in someone else's district.

Taking note of this, house appropriations Chairman George Mahon remarked dryly at a close senate-house conference on New appropriations: "There are 21 different projects in this bill over and above those recommended by the budget bureau. If we are going to cut, let's start cutting there. We can't economize by padding the President's budget."

Mahon also warned his committee colleagues that the ways and means committee, headed by Wilbur Mills, by holding up a tax increase until federal spending is cut, was encroaching on their territory.

GOP REVERSAL

"Wilbur and I have been discussing this matter almost every day," added Mahon. "I'm convinced that he doesn't really want to intrude on our power, but the pressure is on us. We are in danger of losing our authority over federal spending unless we knuckle down and do the job we're supposed to do."

The Republican coordinating committee, the party's top policy-making body, charged last week that President Johnson's clean-air program lodges too much authority in the federal government. The committee demanded that air pollution be handled more by the states. Yet it was the Republican members of the house commerce committee who insisted upon federal controls and refused to let California set its own, tougher standards.

The Republicans, with help from a few Democrats, knocked a provision out of the anti-pollution bill that would have permitted California to set more stringent standards. The Republicans deserted their traditional states-right stand, of course, because of pressure from the automobile industry. The auto manufacturers want the federal government to set and enforce the standards for all states. Otherwise, they will have to install special devices for cars sold in California.

In other words, the Republicans put the big auto makers ahead of their own principles.

"Darling," she purred one night, "the doctor I visited today said I had the most flawless face, full, well-rounded breasts and the loveliest legs he'd ever seen."

"And did he say anything about your fat ass?" her husband asked her.

"Oh no, dear," she said calmly, "your name wasn't mentioned once during our talk."

"You seem to have plenty of intelligence for a man in your position," sneered the attorney to the man on the witness stand. "Thank you," answered the witness. "If I weren't under oath I'd return the compliment."

During the next few weeks hunters in the State will not only have the opportunity to bag a deer, but will also have a chance to tag some stolen vehicles. The Missouri State Highway reports that the isolated rural areas of the State are often the sites where professional or commercial auto thieves take their stolen vehicles to be stripped. Teamsters' High Command his name were Dave Beck of Makes Peace With Powerful Par-

Hoffa Detroit: -- That one-man tank, sters chiefs -- despite public shaker of mayors, governors and statements and speeches such labor movements, Edward Grady as those made not too long ago Partin, whose testimony imprinted at the New Jersey Teamsters sioned Jimmy Hoffa, has turned State convention hailing the out to be a "damn tough bullet penned up chief. It doesn't mean to chew," if I can steal a line that the old machine, the old inis wiped out. To the contrary, The old establishment simply is a closed-door session of the It also means that Partin is Teamsters' high command, the one of the toughest labor leaders Brotherhood's International Exe- in the land. His is a baronial cutive Board. Frank Fitz-power limited for the moment to simmons and the 13 other of what the federals call his "fief," ficials were in executive session Louisiana in general and Baton in a mezzanine room of the Hotel Rouge in particular.

The government does not believe that the Cosa Nostra has tried to frighten Partin with an explosion here and there. If so, the Mafia would not have tried to bribe him to repudiate himself.

Ed Partin has not only bullied mayors and governors and has not only shut down scores of millions of dollars worth of special industrial development projects in Louisiana, but he has defied the powerful AFL - CIO building and co-struction trade unions. Not only locally either. He has taken on the entire national construction union leadership which talks -- with a mighty strong voice -- for some 3.5 million men.

Earlier this year he defied the AFL-CIO chiefs by shutting down project after project, picketing virtually all contractors on massive building sites along the Mississippi. He, not the other chiefs, was setting the wage rates for their men as well as his own tightly knit Teamsters.

So many men were thrown out of work, so much money was being lost on all sides, so much was being dissolved in political fortunes, that early last summer Louisiana Gov. John McKeithen telephoned C. J. "Neal" Haggerty, president of the Building and Construction Trades Dept., AFL-CIO. Haggerty summoned international presidents of building trades unions to a mid-July secret session in the Hotel Hamilton, Washington, D. C. They decided their people had been pushed around far too much. Each of 15 unions dispatched an experience troubleshooter to Baton Rouge to get the projects on the road again, Partin or no Partin.

Work resumed. But that's not part of this story. Important as tough and wild as a Maine bear is the saga of one man seacoast. But he takes no logistical chances. He had informed he has guts and controls the board he was coming. They means of distribution, to use a were ready for him. The answer line from Lenin.

In informed Teamsters circles the story is that Hoffa's own here in Hoffa's home city, where throne room, his own old court-they are mighty informed, is ters have made their peace with that the Teamsters leadership the man he hates more savagely has written Hoffa off as though than he does Bob Kennedy.

Yet this is the man who less than a year ago was offered a million dollars to renounce his own testimony given during Hoffa's last-mile trial in the Chattanooga courthouse. This is the man who has since been approached several times by the underworld, and some Teamsters, with an ever-escalating ante now put at $2 million.

This is the man who hid from the Teamsters in the mountains for a while during Hoffa's Tennessee trial and tribulations. Yet the other day he walked out of the Teamsters' board meeting peacefully, calmly, sociably, as though Hoffa had never existed.

What does it mean? Partin is as tough and wild as a Maine bear. But he takes no logistical chances. He has informed he has guts and controls the board he was coming. They means of distribution, to use a were ready for him. The answer line from Lenin.

Britton then went to Detroit's public library to research the mechanics of the car so he could restore it.

Church Begins

Adult Study

The Methodist church began a new adult curriculum of study in September. Growing out of the cooperative curriculum study begun in 1957 by 17 denominations, the "Foundation Studies in Christian Faith" is a series of eight parts continuing through two years of study.

Part I "Man's Search for a meaningful Faith" is a three-month study, organized around the various stages of life. Editors have collected pertinent parts of contemporary drama, letters, magazine articles, theology, Biblical commentary, poetry and classical philosophy to extend the thought found in the textbook.

"So essential is Foundation Studies for all Methodist adults" says the Rev. Joseph H. Wagner, pastor of First Methodist church, "that we are offering 11 possible classes meeting both Sunday and weekdays. Surely every man and woman in our church and their friends can find one of these times convenient to his or her schedule."

The books are here, the leaders have been secured and instructed, some letters have been sent to those expressing special interest or to members not heretofore a part of the church's educational program.

Four Sunday School classes and one Wednesday night class are one month into the study. The Commission on Education announces a new class beginning Sunday afternoon at 4:30 p.m. in the church and five new classes beginning on Wednesday, 6:30 a.m. breakfast study, 9:30 a.m. coffee hour study at the church, 6:30 p.m. career women dinner and study, 7 p.m. section II night study at church, 7:30 p.m. young married couples dessert and study. Bob L. Matthews is chairman of Commission on Education.

BIRTH RATE DECLINES
HONOLULU (AP) — State Health Department statistics show Hawaii's birth rate and birth count have been dropping for 13 years. The decline has been greatest during the last three years.

The birth rate stood at 34.1 per thousand in 1953; it's now down to 20.9.

Officials attribute the drop to the heavy exodus of military dependents following the departure of husbands to Vietnam, availability of birth control measures and sizable emigration of young people in the most eligible, child-bearing age group.

HONOLULU (AP) — Honolulu millionaire Stewart E. Fern will finally see his dream come true. He and his wife and two sons will move to a small Pacific island with a clear lagoon, perfect weather and an abundance of fish and coconut trees.

The island is Caroline, actually 24 islets surrounding a finger-shape lagoon about six miles in length. It's near the geographic center of the giant Pacific basin and a little more than 450 miles northwest of Papeete, Tahiti, and 2,200 miles southeast of Honolulu.

Fern plans to farm copra, or dried coconut meat. Later, if South Sea living is all it's built up to be, the family may set up an exclusive "escape resort."

"Hawaii and Tahiti are full of tourists now," Fern said. "This place may turn out to be the paradise everybody talks about."

He and several associates have leased three islands, including Caroline, from the British government. Under the name of South Seas Copra and Navigation Co., they will try to market copra, and Fern thinks the business may pay for itself in five years.

"I don't give a hoot about making a nickel," he said. "This is something I have wanted to do for years. This is my dream."

Absent-Minded Attendant
CINCINNATI (AP) — Paul Rudy, a gas station attendant, filled a customer's car, promptly made change, awarded trading stamps, washed the windshield and provided a gift tumbler. As the driver pulled away, he called to the manager to commend Rudy on his fast, efficient courteous service. Then Rudy noticed that he had forgotten to remove the pump's hose from the car's gas tank. The hose snapped, starting a fire.

Defensive Battle Ends In Tie

By Ron Jaynes
CAPE GIRARDEAU -- For the second time in as many weeks, the Cape Girardeau Tigers had their winning hopes shackled as the Sikeston Bulldogs battled them to a 14-14 football deadlock in a northern conference homecoming game at Houck stadium last night.

Central -- rated fifth in the state by a poll of sportswriters conducted by a Kansas City paper -- battled last week to a 6-0 loss at the hands of the state's top rated team, Poplar Bluff, and had defeated other powers in rolling to a 5-0 early season mark. The record was 5-1-1 today.

Sikeston has a shot at the conference title with an overall state of 5-0-1 and conference showing of 3-1-0.

Sikeston's head coach and dean of Southeast Missouri high school football coaches Bill Sapp described the game as "one of the wildest and hard hittingest high school games" he has witnessed during his 16-year coaching rein at SHS.

The Bulldogs struck early. Junior quarterback Bruce Farris hit Mike Garner with a pass that covered 17 yards for a touchdown with 9:29 remaining in the first period after taking control of the ball on Central's 28-yardline due to a blocked punt by Jim Denbow.

Sikeston took a five-yard penalty on Cape after taking possession and Dennis Snelling carried for two yards before Farris connected.

Webb Edwards missed on his first attempt at the extra point but sailed the second through the uprights after an offside penalty call on the Tigers gave the right-footed Edwards a second try.

A blocked punt started the visitors off on the right foot along with the score, but fumbles, interceptions and penalties played a great role in the outcome of the match.

Cape, who by many prognosticators were two touchdowns favorites, had to fight for its life against the surprising Sikeston Bulldogs, who came into the season with a new team after losing 14 lettermen. The team had gone undefeated in its first five outings.

Sikeston dominated the first quarter and most of the second by keeping the Tigers deep in their own territory with good punts and a strong, hard hitting defense.

Cape halted a Sikeston threat in the opening minutes of the second quarter as defensive half-back Alvin Miller picked off a Sikeston pass on the one-yard stripe.

The Bulldogs held the Tigers on their eight-yard line and took control on their 30 before being thrown for an 11-yard loss after reaching the 26. They punted with 4:21 remaining in the half.

Cape's only sustained drive of the half began on its seven-yard line.

Godwin began his aerial circus by hitting Scott Brune with a pass for a 12-yard gain for his first completion after failing to connect in three earlier attempts.

That came with 3:35 left in the half. Two minutes and 55 seconds later he handed off to Jim McCulley, who plunged for the score from one yard out.

During that drive, Godwin connected on five passes, good for 86 yards and had two incomplete tosses. Favorite receivers were Mark Stuart and Miller, who hauled in a 28-yarder.

Bulldog fans thought the drive had been halted when a Sikeston player picked up a Cape fumble, but the official blew the play dead on the Sikeston 38.

Sikeston's secondary was the only defensive unit to give way to Cape's offense. The defensive line limited Cape to 41 yards on the ground.

With 8:34 remaining in the third period, the Bulldogs' Mike Throver picked up a Central fumble and carried it for a 21-yard touchdown after Cape took over on its own 20-yard stripe.

Mike Garner sailed a 47-yard punt into Cape territory to again push the Tigers back into their own area. His punts sailed earlier 50, 37, 37, and 35 yards.

Sikeston again missed its point after touchdown attempt but again Cape was called offside. The second try was successful.

After the kickoff, Cape's drive was stalled on its own 35 when Kim Godwin faded back to punt but elected to run and carried the ball for a first down. The drive then stalled.

The Bulldogs failed to move the pigskin and on a 37-yard Garner punt hit Dave Trantham. Bob McCord recovered on the Central 22.

Sikeston battled its way to the Central six-yard line but after a two-yard loss the Bulldogs failed to gain enough yardage for a first down. On the fourth down Edwards first of two field goal attempts of the night failed. This one was from 23 yards out.

The Bulldogs held the Tigers on

The Bulldogs went into the final period with a 14-7 lead. The official's whistle called back a Sikeston fumble recovery, ruling that the play had been blown dead on the Cape 25.

After a Sikeston drive stalled and Garner punted, Emery ran the ball back to his 10-yard stripe. The tailback tripped up himself with a clear field ahead to the goal line, but five plays later, Quarterback Godwin on a fourth and 11 play carried in for the second Tiger score with 6:54 remaining. Stuart's extra point attempt was good. The score stood 14-14.

Godwin was back to pass on the scoring play but ran the ball in by running over left end, collecting a key block.

Cape picked up a Sikeston fumble on the Bulldog 46 after the kickoff and seemed to have the momentum to put the game in its favor. A vicious defensive attack threw the Tigers' Godwin for a five-yard loss on the first play and a two-yard loss on the third after an incomplete pass on the second down.

Cape's punt took a good bounce after going almost straight up and ended on the Bulldogs' 41.

The thrilling moments of the game were about to begin as Sikeston drove to the Central 14 only to settle for a field goal attempt by Edwards that missed by inches with one minute and 42 seconds remaining.

Cape roared back from its 20-yard line as Godwin passed to Stuart four times to move down to the Sikeston 20-yard line. The fifth attempt was hauled in by Bill Carr, ending the last threat for either team with 55 seconds left.

One Cape player said that "Sikeston hit us harder than anyone did so far this season" and Sikeston's Eddie Felker commented "they are a tough defensive team and they hit me harder than all the teams put together all season."

Sikeston gained 149 yards on 47 plays; 37 running plays for 115 yards and four of ten passes for 34 yards, fumbled once and recovered three times. There was one interception and had 30 yards in penalties.

Cape gained 248 yards on 60 plays; 65 yards on 37 running plays, 183 yards on 11 of 23 passes, fumbled three times and recovered once. It had two interceptions and was penalized 55 yards.

NAIA FB Poll --

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Waynesburg, Pa., College, which has scored 311 points in 300 minutes of playing time this season, is a strong choice for first in the NAIA football poll, receiving 10 first-place votes for the NAIA's 15-coach panel.

Others in the top 10, in order, are Northern Michigan; Northwestern Louisiana; Kearney, Neb., State; New Mexico Highlands; Southwest Texas State; Grambling, La.; Concord, W. Va.; Ottawa, Kan.; and Esseton, Mich.

In the second 10 are Clarion State, Pa.; Eastern Washington; Fairmont State, W. Va.; Linfield, Ore.; Central of Iowa; Texas A&I; Florida A&M; Adams State, Colo.; Willamette, Ore.; and Carson-Newman, Tenn.

BIG 85, Bob McCord, the Bulldogs 6-5 defensive end attempts to block one of Cape's Pat Godwin's passes in last night's northern conference action at Houck stadium in Cape Girardeau. The game ended in a Sikeston - Cape Central 14-14 tie.

SIKESTON'S Bruce Farris stands on the sidelines at Houck stadium last night as Cape Girardeau Central's offensive drive carries it into a 14-14 deadlock with the fighting Bulldogs. Farris, who missed last week's game at Dexter, directed the team from his quarterback position last night.

Spotlight At Malden

If last night's game at Cape Girardeau, where the Sikeston Bulldogs and Central Tigers battled to a 14-14 deadlock is any sign of what to expect this week, area grid enthusiasts are in for a treat . . . because the game at Cape was something to behold, a defensive battle on the ground and an aerial exhibition by Cape's Pat Godwin.

Tonight's top attraction centers around action at Malden, where the Chaffee Red Devils call at the Green Waves' homecoming in a southern conference match. A Wave win would move it into a tie for the division lead with Dexter, who is rolling along with a 3-0 southern conference slate. Malden is 2-0.

The non-conference clash of the week is set at Charleston where Cairo calls in a 7:30 p.m. game. Both are explosive ball clubs.

Other action around the area tonight includes Kennett at Perryville in a northern conference game; Poplar Bluff at Dexter; Portageville will be host to Caruthersville in a crucial game for both clubs in a southern matchup; Gideon will be at East Prairie and Ilmo-Scott City at Hayti.

Saturday's action finds Jackson traveling to Perryville to meet the St. Vincents eleven.

Temper . . . Temper

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The shooting and passing still might be a little rusty, but some of the players' tempers appear to be in midseason form.

At least they were Thursday night in the National Basketball Association game between the San Francisco Warriors and Chicago Bulls, which was won by the visiting Warriors 116-106.

Several near fights marred the game and then, with two minutes left, the contest was disrupted by a torrid fist fight between the Warriors' Jim King and Guy Rodgers of the Bulls. Both were ejected.

The second-half shooting of Fred Hetzel and Rudy LaRusso brought the Warriors the victory. Hetzel and LaRusso each scored 10 points in the third quarter when San Francisco built up a commanding 12-point lead.

Hetzel finished with 29 points, LaRusso 24 and King 20. Jerry Sloan scored 26 and Bob Boozer 24 for Chicago.

St. Louis topped Los Angeles 100-95 in the only other NBA game, while New Orleans beat

Houston 120-112 and Denver whipped Oakland 104-91 in the two scheduled American Basketball Association games.

Paul Silas broke an 89-89 tie with five straight points and sent St. Louis to its fourth victory in as many starts.

Dick Snyder scored 22 points and Joe Caldwell 19 for the Hawks. Elgin Baylor topped Los Angeles with 25.

James Jones led New Orleans to its season opening victory. The guard from Grambling scored 25 points.

Houston made it close by hitting on three straight three-point field goals—shots made from at least 25 feet out—in the closing minutes. Art Becker was high for Houston with 21 points.

Denver built a 59-45 halftime lead and then withstood a second-half comeback by Oakland. The Oaks trimmed the deficit to 84-77 with 7:41 to play before the Rockets pulled away.

Willie Murrell topped Denver with 22 points and Lefty Thomas added 21—15 in the first half. Lavern Tart was high for Oakland with 20.

Defensive Battle Ends In Tie

By Ron Jaynes
CAPE GIRARDEAU -- For the second time in as many weeks, the Cape Girardeau Tigers had their winning hopes shackled as the Sikeston Bulldogs battled them to a 14-14 football deadlock in a northern conference homecoming game at Houck stadium last night.

Central -- rated fifth in the state by a poll of sportswriters conducted by a Kansas City paper -- battled last week to a 6-0 loss at the hands of the state's top rated team, Poplar Bluff, and had defeated other powers in rolling to a 5-0 early season mark. The record was 5-1-1 today.

Sikeston has a shot at the conference title with an overall slate of 5-0-1 and conference showing of 3-1-0.

Sikeston's head coach and dean of Southeast Missouri high school football coaches Bill Sapp described the game as "one of the wildest and hard hittingest high school games" he has witnessed during his 16-year coaching rein at SHS.

The Bulldogs struck early. Junior Quarterback Bruce Farris hit Mike Garner with a pass that covered 17 yards for a touchdown with 9:29 remaining in the first period after taking control of the ball on Central's 28-yard line due to a blocked punt by Jim Denbow.

Sikeston took a five-yard penalty on Cape after taking possession and Dennis Snelling carried for two yards before Farris connected.

Webb Edwards missed on his first attempt at the extra point but sailed the second through the uprights after an offside penalty call on the Tigers gave the right-footed Edwards a second try.

A blocked punt started the visitors off on the right foot along with the score, but fumbles, interceptions and penalties played a great role in the outcome of the match.

Cape, who by many prognosticators were two touchdowns favorites, had to fight for its life against the surprising Sikeston Bulldogs, who came into the season with a new team after losing 14 lettermen. The team had gone undefeated in its first five outings.

Sikeston dominated the first quarter and most of the second by keeping the Tigers deep in their own territory with good punts and a strong, hard hitting defense.

Cape halted a Sikeston threat in the opening minutes of the second quarter as defensive Hall-back Alvin Miller picked off a Sikeston pass on the one-yard stripe.

The Bulldogs held the Tigers on their eight-yard line and took control on their 30 before being thrown for an 11-yard loss after reaching the 26. They punted with 4:21 remaining in the half.

Cape's only sustained drive of the half began on its seven-yard line.

Godwin began his aerial circus by hitting Scott Brune with a pass for a 12-yard gain for his first completion after failing to connect in three earlier attempts. That came with 3:35 left in the half. Two minutes and 55 seconds later he handed off to Jim McCulley, who plunged for the score from one yard out.

During that drive, Godwin connected on five passes, good for 86 yards and had two incomplete tosses. Favorite receivers were Mark Stuart and Miller, who hauled in a 28-yarder.

Bulldog fans thought the drive had been halted when a Sikeston player picked up a Cape fumble but the official blew the play dead on the Sikeston 38.

Sikeston's secondary was the only defensive unit to give way to Cape's offense. The defensive line limited Cape to 41 yards on the ground.

With 8:34 remaining in the third period, the Bulldogs' Mike Thrower picked up a Central fumble and carried it for a 21-yard touchdown after Cape took over on its own 20-yard stripe. Mike Garner sailed a 47-yard punt into Cape territory to again push the Tigers back into their own area. His punts sailed earlier 50, 37, 37, and 35 yards.

Sikeston again missed its point after touchdown attempt but again Cape was called offside. The second try was successful.

After the kickoff, Cape's drive was stalled on its own 35 when Kim Godwin faded back to punt but elected to run and carried the ball for a first down. The drive then stalled.

The Bulldogs failed to move the pignskin and on a 37-yard Garner punt hit Dave Trantham. Bob McCord recovered on the Central 22.

Sikeston battled its way to the Central six-yard line but after a two-yard loss the Bulldogs failed to gain enough yardage for a first down. On the fourth down Edwards first of two field goal attempts of the night failed. This one was from 23 yards out.

SIKESTON'S Bruce Farris stands on the sidelines at Houck stadium last night as Cape Girardeau Central's offensive drive carries it into a 14-14 deadlock with the fighting Bulldogs. Farris, who missed last week's game at Dexter, directed the team from his quarterback position last night.

The Bulldogs went into the final period with a 14-7 lead. The official's whistle called back a Sikeston fumble recovery, ruling that the play had been blown dead on the Cape 25.

After a Sikeston drive stalled and Garner punted, Emery ran the ball back to his 10-yard stripe. The tailback tripped up himself with a clear field ahead to the goal line, but five plays later, Quarterback Godwin on a fourth and 11 play carried in for the second Tiger score with 6:54 remaining. Stuart's extra point attempt was good. The score stood 14-14.

Godwin was back to pass on the scoring play but ran the ball in by running over left end, collecting a key block.

Cape picked up a Sikeston fumble on the Bulldog 46 after the kickoff and seemed to have the momentum to put the game in its favor. A vicious defensive attack threw the Tigers' Godwin for a five-yard loss on the first play and a two-yard loss on the third after an incomplete pass on the second down.

Cape's punt took a good bounce after going almost straight up and ended on the Bulldogs' 41.

The thrilling moments of the game were about to begin as Sikeston drove to the Central 14 only to settle for a field goal attempt by Edwards that missed by inches with one minute and 42 seconds remaining.

Cape roared back from its 20-yard line as Godwin passed to Stuart four times to move down to the Sikeston 20-yard line. The fifth attempt was hauled in by Bill Carr, ending the last threat for either team with 55 seconds left.

One Cape player said that "Sikeston hit us harder than anyone did so far this season" and Sikeston's Eddie Felker commented "they are a tough defensive team and they hit me harder than all the teams put together all season."

Sikeston gained 149 yards on 47 plays; 37 running plays for 115 yards and four of ten passes for 34 yards, fumbled once and recovered three times. There was one interception and had 30 yards in penalties.

Cape gained 248 yards on 60 plays; 65 yards on 37 running plays, 183 yards on 11 of 23 passes, fumbled three times and recovered once. It had two interceptions and was penalized 55 yards.

BIG 85, Bob McCord, the Bulldogs 6-5 defensive end attempts to block one of Cape's Pat Godwin's passes in last night's northern conference action at Houck stadium in Cape Girardeau. The game ended in a Sikeston - Cape Central 14-14 tie.

Spotlight At Malden

If last night's game at Cape Girardeau, where the Sikeston Bulldogs and Central Tigers battled to a 14-14 deadlock is any sign of what to expect this week, area grid enthusiasts are in for a treat. . . because the game at Cape was something to behold. . . a defensive battle on the ground and an aerial exhibition by Cape's Pat Godwin.

Tonight's top attraction centers around action at Malden, where the Chaffee Red Devils call at the Green Waves' homecoming in a southern conference match. A Wave win would move it into a tie for the division lead with Dexter, who is rolling along with a 3-0 southern conference slate. Malden is 2-0.

The non-conference clash of the week is set at Charleston where Cairo calls in a 7:30 p.m. game. Both are explosive ball clubs.

Other action around the area tonight includes Kennett at Perryville in a northern conference game; Poplar Bluff at Dexter; Portageville will be host to Caruthersville in a crucial game for both clubs in a southern matchup; Gideon will be at East Prairie and Ilmo-Scott City at Hayti.

Saturday's action finds Jackson traveling to Perryville to meet the St. Vincents eleven.

Temper . . . Temper

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The shooting and passing still might be a little rusty, but some of the players' tempers appear to be in midseason form.

At least they were Thursday night in the National Basketball Association game between the San Francisco Warriors and Chicago Bulls, which was won by the visiting Warriors 116-106.

Several near fights marred the game and then, with two minutes left, the contest was disrupted by a torrid fist fight between the Warriors' Jim King and Guy Rodgers of the Bulls. Both were ejected.

The second-half shooting of Fred Hetzel and Rudy LaRusso brought the Warriors the victory. Hetzel and LaRusso each scored 10 points in the third quarter when San Francisco built up a commanding 12-point lead.

Hetzel finished with 29 points, LaRusso 24 and King 20. Jerry Sloan scored 26 and Bob Boozer 24 for Chicago.

St. Louis topped Los Angeles 100-95 in the only other NBA game, while New Orleans beat

Houston 120-112 and Denver whipped Oakland 104-91 in the two scheduled American Basketball Association games.

Paul Silas broke an 89-89 tie with five straight points and sent St. Louis to its fourth victory in as many starts.

Dick Snyder scored 22 points and Joe Caldwell 19 for the Hawks. Elgin Baylor topped Los Angeles with 25.

James Jones led New Orleans to its season opening victory. The guard from Grambling scored 25 points.

Houston made it close by hitting on three straight three-point field goals--shots made from at least 25 feet out--in the closing minutes. Art Becker was high for Houston with 21 points.

Denver built a 59-45 halftime lead and then withstood a second-half comeback by Oakland. The Oaks trimmed the deficit to 84-77 with 7:41 to play before the Rockets pulled away.

Willie Murrell topped Denver with 22 points and Lefty Thomas added 21--15 in the first half. Lavern Tart was high for Oakland with 20.

Kennett Advanced United Fund Drive Fills Half of Goal

KENNETT -- The advanced gift drive of the 1967 Kennett United Fund campaign came to an end the early part of this week with a total of 176 contributors giving about 50 per cent of the total goal of $20,000, according to Tom Legan, chairman of this section of the drive.

Total contributions to date are $11,112.20. This amount gives the general solicitation drive, which started with a kick off breakfast Tuesday a little less than 50 per cent of the goal to collect by Oct. 31.

Normal Weather 30-Day Outlook

By Leonard F. Hand
Meteorologist
Delta Center

PORTAGEVILLE -- Both temperature and precipitation are expected to average near normal over the Bootheel during the 30-day period ending in mid-November.

Major high pressure systems crossing the United States will again be of Pacific origin, although some Canadian air can be expected to be drawn into the central Mississippi Valley. Low pressure development is not expected as a dominant feature of weather over the middle of the nation.

In general eight to 10 days with precipitation are expected. Most rain will coincide with movements of cold fronts through the region and measurements will be variable. Maximum use of open weather will be required for completion of soybean harvest and wheat seeding.

Benefits of open weather to cotton will depend upon how soon the first killing freeze is encountered.

In a normal season there is a 50 per cent chance for moderate freeze (24 to 28 degrees) by Oct. over the northern extremes of the Bootheel and by Nov. 15-20 across the southern counties. That probability is for temperatures in the sheltered weather bureau exposure. Exposed crops could be subjected to temperatures that cold when shelter readings indicate a light freeze. A light freeze (28 to 32 de-

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

The dedicated faith of Judith Croot has taken her halfway around the world to give help and hope to people who had no hope.

After completing a four-year course in physical therapy at Tufts University, she spent two years as a hospital staff therapist in Boston. Then she asked her minister if a place could be found for her in an overseas mission. Through him she learned that The American Leprosy Mission had a desperate need for physical therapists in the Philippines. When asked if she would work with leprosy patients she answered simply, "If God wants me to work with leprosy patients, that I will do."

Her assignment took her to a place called Tala Rizal in the Philippines and the Central Luzon Sanitarium with 2500 patients. For two years she provided not only physical help, but emotional and spiritual. Judith says, "Life is only important when there is a relationship with others and in my relationship with my patients we grew in spirit together."

sign of a hard freeze, winterizing of automobiles and farm machinery would be a project to plan for.

Motorists should also begin reminding themselves of the peculiar hazards of the cold season. Bridges become slippery on cold, clear nights even without precipitation. Frosted windows and windshields following a crisp night can be a dangerous visibility restriction if not scraped before traveling. On cold mornings with the car closed up, that fog you see may have formed on the inside of the windshield. Be particularly mindful of children, who are prone to sacrifice alertness in their rush for the school bus on cold or rainy mornings.

A light freeze (28 to 32 degrees) is normally encountered Oct. 20-25 in northern sections and by Nov. 4 in southern parts of the Bootheel.

Heavy rains Oct. 16-17 brought totals for the month above normal. Until that time, rain over the region ranged from 0.41 inch at Caruthersville to 1.02 inches at Sikeston. As of the morning of Oct. 17, total measurements for October were:

Caruthersville 3.49 inches, Sikeston 4.31 inches, Malden 3.49 inches, Portageville 4.81 inches, Charleston 4.61 inches, Poplar Bluff 3.00 inches, Kennett 3.24 inches, and University of Missouri Experiment Field 4.02 inches.

Normally we can expect about an inch more moisture in rain than is lost to evaporation at this time of year. That, plus the excess moisture already meaasured in October, points to the possibility of muddy fields periodically. While there is no immediate

Editorials Many Search, Never Try Happiness Hard To Find?

HAPPINESS IS. . . Many students do not know what happiness is simply because they do not expect extraordinary, uncomplicated happenings to bring happiness to them.

Various stories have been written on what happiness is and how it should be acquired.

We don't think that anyone should or could tell anyone else how to achieve happiness. The only person who can tell one how to be happy is that person himself.

Happiness can come from unexpected pleasures, such as surprise parties or unexpected outings. Happiness also can come from anything a person wants it to come from.

For some people happiness is being cheerful on a rainy day, and of these people many will say what a joy it is to see someone cheerful on a gray, dull, lifeless day.

Happiness is a wide and varied subject because of the difference in people's lives.

Discontented people are the most difficult to please because they do not feel that one should be happy, but rather that one should appear down-and-out all the time.

It is a shame that so many people feel this way for many of the world's problems are caused by the unhappy and discontented people who feel that nothing can ever become prettier or better.

Maybe it would help if the people who are happy all the time would or could give some of their happiness and joy to all the dissatisfied people of the world.

THINK ABOUT IT AND SMILE!!!!

Students Find Knowledge In Library's Resources

For hundreds of years, man's knowledge has been preserved and handed down from generation to generation in books. Today, knowledge is increasing at a fabulous rate. New facts and ideas are being printed and made available to the public through the libraries.

Many students do not realize it, but they are fortunate to have a well-equipped library in Sikeston high school.

This library, one of the 10 best in Missouri, has over 13,000 volumes on many subjects and a record library with over 500 recordings. At this time, over 5,500 books are in circulation from the high school library.

Books on Exhibit, a display of some 450 books printed by 63 leading publishers, will be shown in the library from October 23 to October 27.

Students will have the opportunity to choose the books they want for their library. Booklets with the name, number and description of the exhibited books will contain ballots that a student can vote for his choice of new additions to the library.

Records, which are commonly played on Thursday, will be heard every noon hour during the display of Books on Exhibit. These records will range from classical through opera, jazz and popular to music from movies and Broadway musicals.

Although many do not realize it, students have an opportunity to hear one of the 500 musical phonograph records at home.

Records may be checked out for overnight and must be returned by 8:30 the next morning. Only requirement is that the student has a record player with a good needle. Record for classroom use may be checked out with the approval of the teacher.

Librarian Frederick W. Huff and his assistants should be highly commended for the excellent work they have been performing, not only for Book Week, but for the rest of the year.

Sikeston High Organizes New Liaison Committee

A Student Liaison Committee has been formed in Sikeston high school to link the student body and faculty together.

Four other persons representing the student body will be chosen by Monday in time for the committee's first meeting.

"Five major problems will face the committee this school year," said principal Roger Sherman.

"Because the freshman class will be incorporated into the high school next year, various problems will come by simply the increase in numbers.

"It will be the task of the new committee to seek precedents and groundwork for the transition of the combining of four grades in the complex instead of three.

"Phases of the school life to be discussed by the committee in relation to the new freshmen are recreation, activities and curriculum," Mr. Sherman stated.

"Orientation has long been a problem in Sikeston high school and the new committee will also be discussing ways of making the annual orientation run more smoothly and be more beneficial," Mr. Sherman said.

Ideas will be discussed by the committee concerning the activity program in the school. Suggestions for expansion of old activities and formation of new ones are on the new group's agenda.

"Sikeston high school has long been in need of a code of ethics, and it will be the responsibility of the new liaison committee to draw up such a code," Mr. Sherman further stated.

Criteria for dress of Sikeston high school students will be the last of the formal topics for the group to discuss.

It will be the committee's duty to draw up a list for students to go by concerning hair length and style, dress length, and any other personal attire.

This committee will meet at least once every two weeks with Mr. Sherman and/or vice-principal Troy Stephenson and the counselors.

First meeting will be conducted during the school day, with the first meeting scheduled next week.

This group was selected by principal Sherman with the assistance of the counselors and Gary Wiss.

Yearbook Queen, King Coronation In An Assembly

Crowning of the yearbook queen and king will take place in a special assembly the latter part of November.

Staff urges the students to purchase their yearbooks before the crowning takes place.

Seniors must have their pictures snapped by a local photographer, and the deadline for the appointment is October 31.

Students purchasing Growlers vote for the candidates of their choice from among the nominees of the senior homeerooms.

Queen candidates are Sharon Harber, Mary Beth LaPlant, Kathie Matthews, Gena Nunnelee, Prissy Righter, Diane Taylor, Kathy Thomas, Janie Vandivort, Cyndi Waters and Randy Wolfend.

King candidates are Carl Barnett, Jim Bucher, Jim Carney, Bill Carr, Ed Felker, Mike Garner, Hank Lippert, Robert McCord, King Sidwell, Mike Thrower and Ed Cheek.

Staff is compiling the pages for the Paragon Press of the sophomore class at the present time.

Pages of the individual junior students have been designed and are ready for the publisher.

Faculty pages will be compiled in the next few weeks, and the sophomore, junior, and faculty pages will be sent to the publisher by December 15.

"Any student or faculty who desires a different picture in the Growler than the one that was snapped at school should give it to the staff before December 1," said co-editor Kathie Matthews.

'68 Senior Class To Wash Cars

Senior class car wash will take place tomorrow at the Sikeston Dairy Queen, 2021 East Malone. Purpose of the car wash is to raise money for the annual senior party.

Starting time of the wash is 9:30 a.m., and cars will be cleaned until 5:30 p.m.

Price per wash is $1, with all money going to the senior class party fund.

President King Sidwell urges every senior to sign up to work in one of the four available two hour shifts.

Take a Back Seat Men; Women Drive Better

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a rotten driver. Thank God he doesn't hit people, only things -- like fences, garage doors, fire hydrants, bushes, and last week a billboard.

"When a man is a poor driver and his wife is a good driver why doesn't he admit it and let her take over the wheel --- as a matter of common sense, not to mention financial sense? Our repair bills are out of this world. Yesterday we were discussing the subject with friends. It was really quite amusing because the man (who drives a lot like my husband) was sitting with his leg in a cast as a result of a recent collision with a beer truck. He was telling us how nervous he has become now that his wife has to do all the driving. The man is a psychology professor and he claims that women are not as well-coordinated as men and therefore cannot drive as well. Do you believe it? --BEAT DOWN

Dear Beat: According to a group of Swiss insurance executives, women drivers are less aggressive, less hostile and less dangerous than men drivers. They are also more patient and more careful. To support their theory, this Swiss insurance company offers a 20 per cent discount on policies to women drivers, provided the car is driven only by them and not their husbands.

Dear Ann Landers: -- If there is such a person, I'm beginning to doubt you're real. This is my fourth letter to you and you haven't published one. I'm sure you make up letters to go with your cute answers.

My problem is this dreamy guy at work. His desk is behind mine. We go to lunch at the same moment and I always walk out directly ahead of him. When we eat in the company dining room (which is almost every day), I sit across from him. I have bumped into him at the water cooler dozens of times. All he says is, "Oo-ops, I'm sorry."

This has been going on for five months and he still doesn't know I'm alive. What can I do to get this gorgeous hunk of stuff to notice me? --HIGH PULSE RATE

Dear High: "Hunk" has noticed you, but he's not interested.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 15, my sister is 17 and our mother is 37. We are all the same size. The problem is clothes.

My sister and I get no allowance. We earn money babysitting and buy our own shoes, blouses and sweaters. Mom works at a trucking company. She never wears her own shoes to work. She prefers ours because they have no heels. Mom has worn out so many pairs of our shoes that we have lost count.

Mom wears our sweaters and blouses as much as we do. She has never yet bought a blouse of sweater for herself. Why should she?

My sister and I think this is unfair. If Mom wants to wear our things shouldn't she chip in on the price or buy a sweater or blouse once in a while and share it? What's the solution? --SISTERS

Dear Sisters: The solution is for your mother to buy her own shoes and blouses and sweaters. Almost without exception, when females exchange clothing someone ends up mad.

What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you be sure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet "Marriage -- What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50¢ in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If You Were the Judge Man in Danger Not Liable for Leaving Car

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Norton though he had a date with a curvaceous female when, actually, his date was with destiny. As he sat in his car, anxiously awaiting the arrival of his curvy friend, an escaping hold-up man suddenly jumped into the front seat beside him. Jamming a gun into Norton's ribs, the gunman ordered him to get going.

No hero, Norton nervously did what he was told. At the first chance, however, he hit his brakes hard and dived head first out of his still moving car. Driverless, it mounted the sidewalk and struck Vera who had been ambling along the street. Badly hurt, she sued Norton for her injuries.

"Jumping out of his car when it was still moving," she complained in court, "was pure carelessness. I'm just lucky I didn't get killed."

"If I had stayed in that car," was Norton's answer, "I might have gotten killed. With a gun in my ribs, I was afraid it was a case of or die. So I did it and I jumped out."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make Norton pay for deserting his car?

This is how the judge ruled. No! The judge held that when a person is in great danger, such as was Norton in being threatened by a gun, his action to avoid the danger is deemed to be involuntary and without carelessness. (Based upon a 1941 New York Supreme Court Decision)

TODAY'S LEGAL POINTER: Before buying a house, you should make arrangements with your insurance broker to provide fire and liability coverage on the house from the minute you take title to it. ## Virus Studies Raise Hopes for Finding Cancer Cure

WASHINGTON (AP) — There are strong indications that viruses cause tumors in humans and that by exploring this connection cancer may yet be added to the list of diseases checked by science, a federal research official says.

Dr. Robert J. Huebner, head of viral research at the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, said Thursday at a news briefing researchers have now established that tumors can be caused in some animals by viruses.

Armed with this knowledge, Huebner said, scientists are pressing for the answer to a question of life-and-death significance to millions: Is human cancer also virus-caused?

The evidence points strongly to an affirmative answer, he said, adding that this would be "a very hopeful thing" because some of the greatest successes of science have been against virus-caused diseases.

Parents Unite Against Teacher In Miniskirts

TAYLOR TOWNSHIP, Mich. (AP) — About 200 parents of children in Brake Junior High would like to see just a bit less of Hope Palmer.

It's not that Mrs. Palmer isn't attractive, she is.

And it's not that the 24-year-old former model who teaches art isn't talented. Her superintendent, Simon Katcherian, says she's one of the best around.

But Hope wears miniskirts to school.

And the 200 parents demanded to be heard Thursday at an executive session of the Taylor School Board.

The board told the group's leader, Mrs. Carolyn Kalnins, that only she and six others would be heard on the issue of the exposed knee. The board told them, too that they would not be heard in public.

It was Mrs. Kalnins' mother, Mrs. Lorraine Thurman, who several weeks ago spotted Hope, in miniskirt, in the halls of the school and told the pretty teacher she deserved "a kick in the behind." Then Mrs. Thurman administered same.

Says Mrs. Kalnins: "The kids report to us what she's been wearing, and they say some of her skirts are shorter than they were before."

Katcherian has remained noncommittal, but has said he'd talk to Mrs. Palmer about the length of her hem.

Parking Meter Thief Makes Weekly Haul

MEMPHIS (AP) — Traffic police in Memphis say some thief has a key to 2,200 of the city's parking meters and it is costing the city a pretty penny, estimated at $3,000 to date.

Traffic engineer Robert A. Fosnaugh says from 60 to 150 meters are being tapped each weekend. He termed it "the longest seige of meter robberies I can remember."

The thief hits meters in outlying areas of the city to avoid detection.

Commission Continues Inspection of Rivers

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The Mississippi River Commission continued on its low-water inspection of the Mississippi and Atchafalaya rivers after a public hearing held in Cape Girardeau Monday.

The Commission met in Memphis, Tuesday for a similar hearing.

Forty Persons from over Southeast Missouri, Kentucky and Illinois attended the Cape Girardeau meeting, eight representing the Little River drainage district.

Earl R. Schultz, executive secretary of the Little River drainage district, discussed Orleans, and members of their with the seven-man commission the subject of better out-let drainage and improved the trip within the areas of the drainage in the lower part of the district from Cape Girardeau south.

Work is being done on the headwaters area west of Advance. George Glozier of the St. Francis Levee district at Caruthersville asked for improvements of this levee there. Others requesting improvements in the levees were Peyton Berbling, city attorney for Cairo, and W. C. Bryant of East Prairie, a member of St. Johns Levee District in Mississippi County.

Cape Girardeau was the starting point for the commission which is headquartered in Vicksburg, Miss. After leaving Memphis, the commission is scheduled to hold hearings at Vicksburg on Thursday and at Morgan City on Saturday.

The commission is headed by Maj. Gen. R. G. MacDonnell, president. Besides its members, district engineers from Vicksburg, Vicksburg and New Orleans, and members of their staffs, are to accompany the commission during portions of the trip within the areas of their jurisdiction.

Wappapello Still Low

POPLAR BLUFF — The water level in Lake Wappapello, dropped seven feet below normal for an inspection of the dam, stood Tuesday at 353.65 elevation. The normal recreation pool level is 359.

The rain which fell throughout the area apparently did not affect the lake as much as residents expected. The impoundment has been rising slowly since September when the inspection was completed.

A rise of a few inches followed the rain and a spokesman for the Army Corps of Engineers Tuesday said the lake probably will rise several more inches from the rain. The precipitation came slowly with little run-off into the lake, the spokesman said.

Duck hunters possibly will not have sufficient water in the usual lake hunting areas in the early days of the season unless additional rain falls prior to Nov. 1, the opening date of the duck shooting season.

Parents Unite
Against Teacher
In Miniskirts

TAYLOR TOWNSHIP, Mich. (AP) — About 200 parents of children in Brake Junior High would like to see just a bit less of Hope Palmer.

It's not that Mrs. Palmer isn't attractive, she is.

And it's not that the 24-year-old former model who teaches art isn't talented. Her superintendent, Simon Katcharian, says she's one of the best around.

But Hope wears miniskirts to school.

And the 200 parents demanded to be heard Thursday at an executive session of the Taylor School Board.

The board told the group's leader, Mrs. Carolyn Kalnins, that only she and six others would be heard on the issue of the exposed knee. The board told them, too that they would not be heard in public.

It was Mrs. Kalnins' mother, Mrs. Lorraine Thurman, who several weeks ago spotted Hope, in miniskirt, in the halls of the school and told the pretty teacher she deserved "a kick in the behind." Then Mrs. Thurman administered same.

Says Mrs. Kalnins: "The kids report to us what she's been wearing, and they say some of her skirts are shorter than they were before."

Katcharian has remained noncommittal, but has said he'd talk to Mrs. Palmer about the length of her hem.

X15 Pilot Qualifies
For Astronaut Rating

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Maj. William J. Knight is qualified for an Air Force astronaut rating today after flying the X15 rocket plane to an altitude of 277,000 feet, more than 52 miles.

Knight became the seventh X15 pilot to fly higher than 50 miles with his flight Tuesday. His top speed was 3,818 miles an hour, well below the 4,534 m.p.h. he flew the X15 Oct. 3 while establishing a record for manned, winged aircraft.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported the flight was without incident. The X15 was launched from its mother plane over Smith Ranch, Nev., and landed here.

Parking Meter Thief
Makes Weekly Haul

MEMPHIS (AP) — Traffic police in Memphis say some thief has a key to 2,200 of the city's parking meters and it is costing the city a pretty penny, estimated at $3,000 to date.

Traffic engineer Robert A. Fosnaugh says from 60 to 150 meters are being tapped each weekend. He termed it "the longest seige of meter robberies I can remember."

The thief hits meters in outlying areas of the city to avoid detection.

Commission Continues
Inspection of Rivers

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The Mississippi River Commission continued on its low-water inspection of the Mississippi and Atchafalaya rivers after a public hearing held in Cape Girardeau Monday.

The Commission met in Memphis, Tuesday for a similar hearing.

Forty persons from over Southeast Missouri, Kentucky and Illinois attended the Cape Girardeau meeting, eight representing the Little River drainage district.

Earl R. Schultz, executive secretary of the Little River drainage district, discussed with the seven-man commission the subject of better out-let drainage and improved the trip within the areas of the district from Cape Girardeau south.

Work is being done on the headwaters area west of Advance. George Glozier of the St. Francis Levee district at Caruthersville asked for improvements of this levee there.

Others requesting improvements in the levees were Peyton Berling, city attorney for Cairo, and W. C. Bryant of East Prairie, a member of St. Johns Levee District in Mississippi County.

Cape Girardeau was the starting point for the commission which is headquartered in Vicksburg, Miss. After leaving Memphis, the commission is scheduled to hold hearings at Vicksburg on Thursday and at Morgan City on Saturday.

The commission is headed by Maj. Gen. R. G. MacDonnell, president. Besides its members, district engineers from Memphis, Vicksburg and New Orleans, and members of their staffs, are to accompany the commission during portions of the trip within the areas of their jurisdiction.

Wappapello
Still Low

POPLAR BLUFF — The water level in Lake Wappapello, dropped seven feet below normal for an inspection of the dam, stood Tuesday at 353.65 elevation. The normal recreation pool level is 359.

The rain which fell throughout the area apparently did not affect the lake as much as residents expected. The impoundment has been rising slowly since September when the inspection was completed.

A rise of a few inches followed the rain and a spokesman for the Army Corps of Engineers Tuesday said the lake probably will rise several more inches from the rain. The precipitation came slowly with little run-off into the lake, the spokesman said.

Duck hunters possibly will not have sufficient water in the usual lake hunting areas in the early days of the season unless additional rain falls prior to Nov. 1, the opening date of the duck shooting season.
